Accounting District was hired by C&B Chemicals to develop an innovative and adaptable accounting solution that provided accurate financial data within a designated time frame. The client was looking for a scalable approach that could be applied to a new business venture.

Service Highlights

- High level of professionalism and competence
- Accurate and timely financials delivered
- Strong understanding of proper accounting guidelines

For C&B Chemicals to assist a client in their transition into a new business venture, all financial records must be detailed so an authentic forecasting model can be developed. Accounting District reviewed the companies financial records and corrected the oversites to ensure the accounting was correct so, the C&B Chemicals partner was prepared to move forward.

As in many transitions, the road was a bit jagged, but the Accounting District team was proactive, responsive and listed to methodology suggestions provided by the client.

Communication and flexibility were the keys to success for this client. As a completely virtual team, staying on top of emails and meetings were essential in keeping this project on track and delivered right on schedule.

"I rely on the books being closed accurately and timely. So, switching from previous providers to Accounting District was an easy choice. Accounting District made the entire accounting process work effortlessly. I could check in, make sure everything was going well and not have to feel like I had to dig in and help to fix things."

- Viren Patel, C&B Chemicals
